

CURRENT GIF INVESTIGATION

Main theories regarding metadata
 METADATA

1. The Thumbnail Theory

- The Idea: The GIF seen on 4chan wasn't a clip of the video itself, but an automatic preview image (thumbnail) generated by a hosting site.
- The Result: This explains why the GIF lacked certain graphic details that eyewitnesses remember—it was just a low-quality, static-like preview.

2. The Transfer Theory

- The Idea: The "metadata-editor" tags found in DVDRipper's files weren't for faking the video, but for moving the files.
- The Result: The software was likely used to pull data from old, damaged DVDs onto a modern hard drive, which naturally updates the file's metadata without changing the actual content.
